

DANIEL CASE ALMOST GOES TO TRIAL

Preliminary Hearing of Dan G. Carmichael Postponed Until Wednesday Morning at Nine O'Clock.—May Try David Carmichael Jointly With Father.

Dan G. Carmichael was almost given a preliminary hearing before Judge A. C. Crawford this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for shooting Police Officer Horrie Deshazo Monday night December 7, in Dixie. As it was the hearing was postponed until Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, at which time lawyers believe that both cases, one against the elder Carmichael and the other against David Carmichael, the son, both charging murder, will be ready for trial.

A feeling of expectancy pervaded the court room. At 2:00 o'clock many were present, but in a short while the crowd became thicker. All waited to see if the case would go to trial or be postponed.

The state stressed the importance of the testimony of Fred Ghent, a Dothan boy, who is in Montgomery. A telegram was received from Ghent, saying he will be here tomorrow. The state claims that he is an essential witness.

At First Judge Crawford talked as if he wanted the hearing to begin at 2:30, as scheduled, but said he would give in if counsel for both sides desired a postponement. Lawyers representing state and defense held a private conference, after which it was announced the case would go over until Wednesday.

W. L. Lee, of counsel for state, insisted that all the state's witnesses come forward and be recognized, but a goodly number were not present. The lawyer asked for attachments for Sam J. Hall of Gordon, and John T. Brown, both of whom the sheriff said had been served with summonses. They were not in court, and lawyer Lee seemed of the opinion that attachments would bring them.

David Carmichael Held in Deshazo Murder Case

Charged with murder. David Carmichael, son of Dan G. Carmichael, was placed under arrest Friday by Sheriff Ben O. Hay, and detained in the county jail. The warrant was sworn out in a justice court by a relative of Horrie Deshazo, the late Dothan policeman, and made returnable to the county court.

The arrest of the younger Carmichael came as a great surprise.

BANDAGED WOMAN AND 3 TOTS KILLED

Mutilated Bodies of Mrs. Charles Burner and Children Found in Virginia Home.—Husband is Luray, Va., Jan. 3.—The bodies of Mrs. Charles E. Burner and her three children, James, Walter, 4; and a baby one year old, all horribly mutilated, were found this morning by a neighbor who had gone there on an errand.

The skull of each of the victims had been crushed, evidently with some blunt instrument. The children, apparently, had been murdered as they slept, but the disordered condition of a room and position of body indicate that the mother had fought desperately for her life.

The whereabouts of Charles Burner, the father and husband, is unknown, although he is said to have been seen in Luray early this morning. He recently was released from the state road convict force to which he was sentenced for felonious assault.

Mrs. Burner, who was 27 years old, was born in Bainbridge, Ga., and was brought to Luray by Dr. H. M. Wharton, the Baltimore evangelist, whom he conducted an institution here. The scene of the murder is in an isolated section at the base of Massanutten Mountain, about five miles from here.

In the Deshazo case. The elder Carmichael is charged with shooting the police officer to death on Monday night, December 7, while the officer is said to have been attempting to call Police Headquarters for assistance. Since the shooting Dan G. Carmichael has been kept in the county jail.

The serving of the warrant on David Carmichael is the first indication that the state has made that an effort will be put forth to connect the son with the shooting of the police officer by Dan G. Carmichael, the father. It was reported after the tragedy that the younger Carmichael was, in some way, involved in the affair, but in just that manner no one seemed to know.

HERE'S AM.

I have taught school, merchandised, written life insurance and I did my best. If I was manager of a big bank or a large mercantile company, I would use all my energies to make them go.

But, but, the panic caught me and I am now looking and serving my friends with the following hot and cold lunches as desired at 230 West Main street at all hours of the day: Coffee, sweet milk, steak, fresh fish, sausages, fish, red ham, eggs, pork, peach and apple pies, cakes of different kinds, cold drinks, and Apalachicola oysters on the half shell.

Everything guaranteed to be nice and cheap. Come and eat with me and see if you are not satisfied, and help me through the panic.

It's me. dr9wkt29

We believe that Dan G. Carmichael is the best specimen of a murderer and a man of low character that has ever lived in Dothan. We believe that he is a dangerous man and that he should be kept in the county jail until he is tried for the murder of Police Officer Horrie Deshazo.

FIVE MEN ARE PAROLED BY THE GOVERNOR

Executive Clemency Saves C. C. Bush, Gus Stephens, W. H. Griffin, King Richards and Charlie Trautwein from Working Out Hard Labor Sentences.

Five men, convicted of violating the prohibition laws in this county, received paroles from Governor Emmet O'Neal, this being to them, no doubt, happy New Year's greetings.

In the paroles George H. Malone, Dothan banker, is made a sort of guardian of the men sentenced to hard labor for violating the prohibition laws. The paroles stipulate that each of the men must report to George H. Malone the first Monday in each month, and explain to him what sort of business they are engaged in, and Mr. Malone is to report to the governor as to whether he believes these reports, true. Failure to comply with these instructions means that the parole is revoked.

When questioned today, Mr. Malone was not in position to say whether he would accept the responsibility placed upon him by the governor. He said that he had received no commission or instructions from the governor, and that he had nothing to say in the matter until he got some word from the Capitol. He said he did not even know who received paroles.

The clemency of the governor came as a surprise to a number of convictions which were obtained by jury in the Circuit Court, several defendants having been convicted of violating the prohibition laws, fined and given hard labor sentences. The paroles do not revoke the fines.

Following are those who received paroles:

C. C. Bush, 12 months; Gus Stephens, 12 months; W. H. Griffin, 6 months; King Richards, 6 months; Charlie Trautwein, 3 months.

They're burying the butchered dead, whose blood has stained a million acres; no dirge is sung, no prayer is said, there is no kindly undertaker. They plant the soldier where he died, forever lost to those who love him; unwashed, unshriven, staring-eyed, he lies, the red sod heaped above him. No clergyman beside him stands, no coroner, with inquest holden, no friend to fold the tortured hands, or smooth the tangled ringlets golden. "These soldiers dead pollute the air, they fill with germs the passing breeze," the sanitation sharps declare; "they're apt to breed some fell diseases. Not all the drugs upon our shelves can cope with winds so microbe-laden; since dead men cannot plant themselves, we'll have to go and do some spadin." They dig a grave of many verms, a trench where men are thrown like cattle, while bullets whine and shrapnel bursts, and man-destroying cannon rattle. They heap them in the shallow pit, the fallen heroes, stark and gory; oh, jingo bold, consider it—this is the stuff that men call glory!

HAM and BACON

(Washington Post.)

Somewhere in the pages of "Don Quixote" there is described a visit of the Knight of the Sorrowful Countenance and his faithful squire to the estate of a nobleman of the country. It was a holiday occasion and no less important issue being in view than a wedding. Old Cervantes made the most of his opportunity blending romance and tragedy, in which the doughty knight figured conspicuously with the most detailed account of the marriage preparations, and Sancho Panza, standing close to the spits and stewpans, stroking a sympathetic stomach as he saw the meats browned to a turn.

If the feast of 400 years ago could be this day transported to Columbia, Mo., the elements of romance and plenty would again be combined. For the present is the eve of grand preparation for a "Farmers' Ham and Bacon Show," to be held on January 11 to 14, by the Missouri state board of agriculture. The wife of the speaker of the house will get as judge. Her tribute to the supremacy of the Missouri milkmaid in the past is second only to her knowledge of ham and bacon in the present. High thinking and the best of living will be the test from which only the elect may hope to emerge with glory.

Ham and bacon! These be words to conjure with, more effective than the abracadabra of forgotten mystic, or the mysterious formulas of medieval searchers after the law for transmutation of the baser metals into gold. And of all the favored sections of a most favored land, hurring not be scorned product of Virginia's vast forests, Missouri can meet them all in the open field, and issue a challenge that commands the consideration of every champion in the lists.

We have it from the rival advertisements of rival meat firms that there is the only original and simple pure pork product. They accentuated their hired rhymes with bought portraits of the firm hand quarter of the prize hog, or the painted temptress, also from the midriff cut this with the edges hanging together.

BALKAN COUNTRIES PREPARING FOR WAR

Bulgaria's Desire to Win Back Macedonia May Get Greece, Serbia, Roumania, and Bulgaria into Fight.

London, Jan. 3.—Persuading steps which have been taken to effect an understanding between the Christian Balkan states, and to insure Bulgarian neutrality, apparently have not met with complete success, according to dispatches from the near eastern capitals, and Bulgaria, Greece, Serbia and Roumania still are preparing for eventualities.

During a discussion of the budget in the Greek chamber of deputies M. Theokotis is reported to have declared the speech recently delivered by the Bulgarian premier regarding Macedonia which Bulgaria considered should have been given her after the last Balkan war, constituted a menace; while the Greek minister of finance said Greece was making urgent military preparations to maintain her liberated territory.

Another dispatch from Athens says the Greek government has forbidden exportation of cereals, flour, cattle, forage and arms.

Should Bulgaria, contrary to expectations, attack Serbia with the object of recovering Macedonia, Greece by her treaty obligations would, it is thought here, come to the assistance of Serbia, and the Balkan peninsula would be in the throes of a third war.

Turkey apparently expects trouble as the Ottoman government has expelled the subjects of all neutral countries from the Dardanelles.

In Albania the revolution is said to be spreading and the Italians, who occupied the seaport of Avlona, have sent a battleship to Durazzo to protect Italian interests at the Albanian port.

BOOKER T. WASHINGTON RAPS NEGRO AMENDMENT

Tuskegee, Ala., Jan. 3.—The amendment incorporated in the immigration bill, which excludes immigrants of African descent, was unnecessary, unjust and unreasonable, Booker T. Washington, principal of the Tuskegee Institute, said here tonight in a statement commenting on the measure passed Saturday by the Senate.

The negro educator asserted that without the services of the West Indian negroes the Panama canal could not have been completed in such a satisfactory way and that to prohibit the entry of a race that had been so largely instrumental in this work, even should they meet the requirements of the immigration law, was unfair and unnecessary discrimination against the negro.

Should Gov. Henderson Be Allowed to Redeem his Pledge?

That was the heading of an article that appeared in Sunday's Advertiser, from the pen of Col. Alva Fitzpatrick, that most admirable writer.

The writer showed that he was a close reader of the Advertiser. It, with the Birmingham News, and Mobile Item, has published many articles recently that are calculated to make the reader believe that a dark plot is on foot among some of the members of the legislature to try to tie the hands of Governor Henderson, and to keep him from "redeeming his pledges."

They always say "pledges," then, as a matter of fact, if you wish to ask what "pledges," they mean, undertake to name any, and would have in mind but one. The "pledge" only relates to the question of prohibition.

And you unsuspecting reader, consider, that the papers which are afraid Gov. Henderson is going to be allowed to redeem his pledges, are the same papers that advise thousands of "dry" readers what the "national drink" is, and what distilleries made it, along with the same church announcements. They have in mind those paid advertisements, which bring the highest rate, affording no income to the paper.

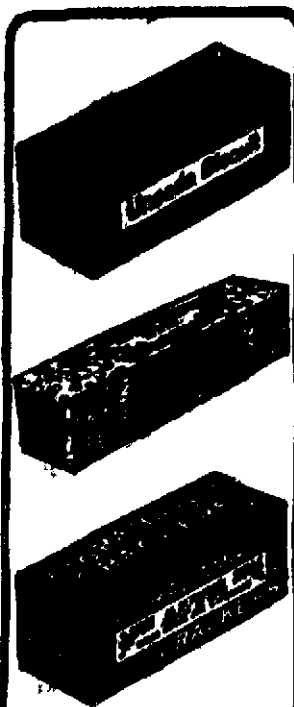

These papers have counted noses. They are afraid there are more prohibition members of the legislature than local optionists. They are afraid prohibition will be saddled upon the people.

Gov. Henderson ever made a pledge, they count this as the One, above all, to be kept. It is, and this alone, that they are afraid, when referring to a secret plot to tie the hands of Henderson, to keep him from giving the people the relief he promised. Of what concern would the pledges of the governor be, then, if they didn't turn on a matter of dollar and cents for papers?

They haven't waited for anyone to develop that would tend to show the legislature wasn't going to stand by the governor. They point out, weeks in advance, the convening of the legislature, the fact that it is going to convene, and the governor—the man leader of the party.

Gov. Henderson was elected on a local option platform. It was, then, the people had confidence in him, and he was elected, because he favored local option. There were two other local optionists running against him, but because they thought he would make a balanced governor—a business governor. He has never said, "far as we know, we would not have a prohibition platform. Neither would he count it a slap in the face and the humiliating of his policies should they while his passed. He knows there are many dry counties in, and he knows that the liquor counties are but few. He knows that the whiskey business is a very important part of the state.

The loud reports that you cannot locate are the breaking of the New Year resolutions.

way and vote another the people back home will cuss them, and not the governor.

Down in the Wiregrass, we have a number of counties that voted whiskey out in a straight whiskey or no whiskey election, and they in turn gave Henderson a big majority. Would that be taken to mean that these people have changed their mind with reference to prohibition? Not at all. It means that although they are prohibition counties, they voted for Henderson because they thought he would make a safe governor in spite of his being a local optionist. He, it is understood, is a prohibitionist in his home county when a liquor election comes off, and he is too big a man to attempt to dictate to the legislature what it should do along this line, for he knows they come just as "fresh from the people," as he himself comes, in spite of the feelings the prohibition papers are trying to inject into the matter at present.

But for some of his friends O'Neal would have made a much better governor. It is to be hoped that Governor Henderson will not allow himself handicapped at the beginning of his administration. And we don't believe he will. The strong whiskey papers are trying to place him in the wrong light, that's all.

We believe Governor Henderson will find support in the legislature when he attempts to "redeem his pledges to the people." And when he speaks of his pledges, he doesn't count among the number, that kind of a pledge that Col. Fitzpatrick spoke of. He's got no pledge out along this line to redeem.

The loud reports that you cannot locate are the breaking of the New Year resolutions.

Henderson and the Legislature.

Montgomery Journal

The effort to cause a break between Governor-elect Henderson and the legislature before the legislature convenes will fail, as it ought to fail.

There is no present cause to anticipate trouble between the chief executive and the legislature.

The members of the legislature of Alabama are thoroughly in accord with the governor-elect on his proposed reforms.

As the Journal understands the platform of the governor-elect he makes the question of an economical administration—the cutting out of useless expenses and the abolishment of useless offices—the paramount issue.

The Journal has preserved and carefully read and to read his platform, and he urged earnestly retrenchment and reform in the administration of the affairs of the state, and that the members of the legislature are ready to stand shoulder to shoulder with him, and even initiate the work of retrenchment goes without saying. They, too, are pledged to reforms, and they, too, have pledged to fulfill.

The governor-elect is assured in advance that he will have the earnest and sincere support of the members in carrying out the paramount issue of his platform, and in all measures looking to moral uplift and enforcement of law.

The governor will not be misled by political spoilsmen and those seeking selfish ends, under pretense of friendship, and allow them to cripple his administration by arousing needlessly the antagonism of the legislative body upon which he must depend to carry out his many commendable measures of reforms and making his administration a success.

It would be a mistake of the governor-elect to assume that he could control the legislative body, and mould it to his own way of thinking on all measures that may come before it for discussion and legislative action.

The men who are elected to the legislature have independence and pride of manhood and self-respect and if they did not assert their independence and manhood and self-respect and if they did not assert their independence and manhood in the discharge of their public duty they would be unworthy the respect of their constituents.

They can no more be driven than the chief executive to do violence to their consciences, and the governor-elect is too fair a man, too high minded, and understands too thoroughly the duties devolving upon a legislative body, and knows too well its independence of the executive department, to expect to dominate it and mould it to his own way of thinking on all vital questions coming before it.

That the governor-elect will have occasion to appreciate and commend the good work of the legislative body and that he will also have cause to occasionally differ with it goes without saying.

The two departments are separate and distinct but they must, if possible, work in harness so far as possible, the one not trying to dictate or dominate the other, but to advise one another, and try as statesmen and patriots to bring order out of the present chaos in the state's financial affairs.

The Journal has too high an opinion of the business sense and judgment of Governor-elect Henderson to believe that he will begin his official life by throwing the legislature out of office, or assuming the role of dictator—thus throwing down the gauntlet of battle when there has been, and is, no occasion for a clash between the executive and legislative bodies.

And the busy-bodies who are trying to bring about a clash are doing their cause, which is well understood no good but great harm. They see the handwriting on the wall and are trying to muddy the waters.

What Should Be Done?

In electing the Hon. Chas. Henderson governor of Alabama, the people did it on his declaration for local option, and to take any other view of it would be false. —Laverne Journal.

There is not the shadow of a doubt that the Hon. Charles Henderson was elected governor of Alabama on a local option platform, but what we want to know is just simply this: If the governor was elected on a local option platform and the senators and representatives were elected on a prohibition platform, if they are not just as much obligated to the people of their respective districts and counties to keep their pledges to the people who elected them as the governor is to the people of the state, as a whole, who elected him? We cannot separate the obligation of the two, and we dare say the Senators and representatives will be anxious to keep their pledges as the governor will be to keep his. —Montgomery Times.

Well, those papers who want to tell Gov. Henderson what he shall do and what he shall not, will say it is the duty of the legislature to follow the governor, as he is the leader, matters not what their individual platforms were.

One among the first bills that will be introduced when the legislature convenes early in January will be one to abolish the office of jail inspector. While Dr. Oates has done nothing more than use all the unlimited power that has been put in his hands by the law under which he is operating, yet he has made the office a very obnoxious one to the people of the state generally. If it is not abolished, it will certainly be so amended that the

What the Greatest News- papers in Paris Say About French Market Coffee

ONE of the greatest newspapers in Paris is LE MATIN, with a circulation of over 600,000 copies per day. It is known throughout the world wherever the French language is spoken. The following article appeared in LE MATIN, May 31st, 1914. What other American coffee has been thus honored?

Extract taken from "Le Matin" Edition of Sunday May 31st, 1914

The French method of roasting coffee has made great progress in America where the brand known under the name of French Market Coffee has actually a very important role. Although French Market Coffee is widely imitated none of these imitations possess the aroma of the authentic product. It seems that the American artists of the Latin quarter in Paris, according to all appearances, the French Market Coffee is the coffee roasted in Paris.

This wonderful old secret blend was sipped by our Great Great Grandparents in the old French Market. Ask any of the old families about the wonderful goodness 50 years' ago, of French Market Coffee, which then could be had only at the French Market, New Orleans, but now in perfectly sealed cans, can be had at your grocer. IF BACKACHE OR

KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat Luscious Meat Also Take a Glass of Salts Before Eating Breakfast

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked, get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy, the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, such as backache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel that urinate twinges when the weather is bad.

Let less meat, drink lots of water, also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then be all right. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, can not injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is on its trouble.

There are no Bread Lines in the Southern Towns.

There are no bread lines in the small towns and cities of the South. True there are lines for charity, but in the south the bread winners are known in years. Wages in the United States are higher than in any other country. Thus our railroads were built with funds provided by provident people from abroad. Thus were our great industries established by domestic and foreign capital. Thus was prosperity enjoyed on every hand as it always is when prices are high, wages high and money in demand.

Advantages of High Prices

(From Lashley) Higher! Higher prices for cotton to put it at a figure that will give a fair profit is the demand of the cotton raisers of the South. Wheat is at the highest figure known in years. The Story of Creation.

(Philadelphia Public Ledger) Translations from ancient Sumerian tablets found at Nippur and now in the university museum, which contained a story of the creation of the world and the deluge, differing in many respects from the present accepted version, have just been published from the pen of Dr. Ann P. Pouch of the University of Pennsylvania, who is believed to have fallen on the battlefields of Europe since making the translations.

The tablets, according to the three volume translation made by Dr. Pouch, one of the world's foremost Sumerian scholars, set forth what is in many respects an entirely new version of Genesis, and add more than a thousand years to the history of man as at present recorded.

Dr. Pouch made his translations nearly a year ago and finished his work before leaving for Brazil, in the early summer to complete his studies abroad. He took with him his galley proofs for correction. Shortly after he left this country the war began, and Dr. Pouch joined the German army. Repeated communications to him since then have failed to elicit any response, and his friends here feel sure that he is a war victim.

His book reveals, not only the Sumerian version of the creation of man, but completes the lists of kings of Babylon and clears up the cloud that has covered many missing dynasties in ancient history. It is estimated that the tablets were written about 2500 B. C. probably about the time of Abraham. They give the oldest accounts of the creation of

A pom-pom of ostrich attempts to hold back the upturned brim of this white butter's plush model.

A clever use of striped squirrel in this velvet hat—and, to the right, a velvet and tulle confection.

Odd bits of brocade can be worked into a wonderfully effective neckpiece and muff set, and a piece for the crown.

The New Year Ship.

Across wide seas of space,
from God's own bay,
Straight to the shores of earth
it plowed its way,
And came, full-rigged, to anchor
in the night,
Its sails lie clean against the
morning light;
And on the bridge old Captain
Time is standing,
Proud of the brave new craft he is commanding.

My heart runs backward, crying
"Ship ahoy!"
What cargo do you carry—pain or joy?
Before the crew of Days shall come ashore,
Bearing each one his portion of your store,
Tell me what things are hidden in your hold!"
There is no answer. Yet I do make bold
To prophesy some things Time keeps for me
In that great New Year ship.

First there will be Keen winter mornings, when the sun and frost
Wage bloodless battle, with their daggers crossed,
The wind will act as second for the sun,
While trees stand steadfast for the other one.
Ah! such a rare sport!

There will be Spring's return
When in old hearts young blood
again will burn,
And the young buds deck old trees, while in the skies
Vast clouds and sunsets startle and surprise
A waking world to wonder.

There will come
Seasons so beautiful they strike
one dumb,
(A perfect rose is beauty's final word.)
While in their keen old memories are stirred
Of other scenes and times.

And then Autumn's brush will paint the earth, before the frost means a dying year. Ah!
Time
cheat me of these moments when others that I cannot bring me—or
Time is Good

New Year's Entertainment.

One of the most enjoyable occasions of the season was an elaborate entertainment given Friday night, January 1st, at the home of Mrs. Ethel Williams on North Oates street, by Mrs. J. R. Crawford, in honor of Mr. R. D. Crawford's Sunday School class No. 39 of Foster Street M. E. Church.

The house was artistically decorated in Christmas colors profusely relieved by lovely red carnations entwined with white of the same flower. The Christmas bells reflected beautifully amid the living plants of emerald. Progressive Anagrams was played at five tables. The drawings were immensely enjoyed, each demonstrating his or her own peculiar style of art; however Dr. H. H. McNeill proved to be quite at home with the blackboard. When he wrote beneath his masterpiece, "This is a pig," it was then that the judges were forced to assign credit to whom credit was due, presenting the Doctor with a tip horn. Mrs. F. B. Culver fell heir to the next prize, a doll.

At the expiration of the game a delicious plate luncheon was served, after which all expressed their appreciation to Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. Williams and Mr. R. D. Crawford for their untiring effort in behalf of the class.

Just those who were fortunate in having Mrs. Crawford as hostess that are able to conceive just what lay in store for the guests. Mrs. Crawford was ably assisted by Mrs. Williams and Misses Fannie and Effie Williams.

Those present forcibly realize that it was good to have their names enrolled in Mr. R. D. Crawford's class. The following are those who enjoyed their hospitality:

Dr. and Mrs. H. H. McNeill, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Flowers, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Crary, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Brown, and sister, Mrs. Matin, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Flowers, Mrs. Hattie Gresham, Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Pileter, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Williams, Miss Ruby Smith, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Culver, and Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Crawford.

REDUCE HOUSEHOLD EXPENSES!

Make Your Own Cough Medicine.

The difference in buying one of the most efficient, latest and up-to-date cough and cold remedies (which can be made at home), and buying the old, ordinary, ready-made kind, is that with the new one you get all pure medicine, instead of buying a large proportion of sugar and water, besides paying for bottles, corks and labels; and it usually requires 2 to 3 bottles of the old-fashioned, ready-made remedies to break up a cough or cold, while 2 ounces (50c worth) of Schlimm's New Concentrated Expecto-rant, which is so strongly concentrated that 2 ounces, when mixed at home with simply one pint of granulated sugar and one-half pint of water, make a full pint (16 ounces) of excellent cough remedy, and will be sufficient to probably last the whole family the entire winter. It positively cures all the chloroform, opium, morphine or other narcotics, and is so pleasant that children like to take it. Arrangements have been made with drug stores placed before the refund the money to any person who finds it does not give perfect satisfaction, or if it is not found the very best remedy ever used for coughs, colds, bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, asthma, etc. You will be satisfied. Schlimm's New Concentrated Expecto-rant is sold by all drug stores. Beware of cheap imitations. The name is on the wrapper. Schlimm's New Concentrated Expecto-rant is sold by all drug stores.
